enRoute announces the winner of Canada's Best New Restaurants 2008

MONTREAL, Oct. 28 /CNW Telbec/ - After an intensive five-week tour de force spanning twelve cities and thirty-something restaurants, enRoute and its contributing editor Chris Johns are proud to reveal Canada's 10 best new restaurants. The featured article is published in the November issue of the award-winning magazine.enRoute magazine's top pick for Canada's Best New Restaurant 2008 goes to Nota Bene (Toronto)

Top honors go out to Toronto's toast of the town. "Chef David Lee and his business partners Yannick Bigourdan and Franco Prevedello have created a restaurant that is both democratic and elite." "The kitchen relies on Asian and latin flavours for its inspiration, filtering and refining them in the process." "In restaurant lingo, the notation "NB" (for nota bene) next to a reservation indicates that the party is to be treated with special care and attention. Here the term applies to everyone."
